

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF CAPE GIRARDEAU COUNTY

In announcing my candidacy for County Assessor, I take this method to ask your support in securing the nomination at the Primary to be held Tuesday, August 1st next.

My four years experience as a member of the County Court has placed me in a position to administer the affairs of the office in a business-like manner, and if nominated and elected, I shall endeavor to do my duty and serve all taxpayers according to law.

NORMAL QUARRY IS USED FOR A DUMP

Decomposed Garbage Caused a Protest Among Residents of That Section.

Residents living on the extreme north end of the Boulevard are complaining of the odors that have been coming from the quarry just west of the Normal school.

According to the complaints, certain parties living in that vicinity, have been using the quarry for a garbage dump. When the wind is blowing from the north or northeast, the stench from the quarry is carried for blocks through the residential section of the city.

The parties who have been dumping refuse into the big hole have not been identified, because they haul their garbage to the quarry after dark.

According to complaints made to The Tribune, great quantities of garbage have been dumped into the hole, where it remains for days in a state of decomposition. People living nearby fear an epidemic of disease will result if the practice is long continued. The complainants stated last night that no complaint had been made to Mayor Kage, but they expected to ask him to give them relief.

GREAT SALE OF NUSSBAUM'S UNDER WAY AT CAPE GIRARDEAU

Biggest Sale of Merchandise Ever Known in This Vicinity
Opens With a Rush—Crowds Throng the Store
from Morn Until Late at Night

Array Of Bargains Exceed All Previous Attempts

The great sale at Nussbaum's which has been the talk of the town and the entire county, and continues to be the talk of the day—in restaurants, at lunches, at home, everywhere. Wherever one finds a crowd of people conversing the theme is sure to be "The Closing Out Sale at Nussbaum's." But after all it should not be provocative of surprise that this sale should meet with such cordial reception. Original, unique and glowingly termed advertisements had for days ahead apprised the public for miles around of this commercial transaction and it must be conceded that never before in the history of Cape Girardeau County or any other part of Missouri for that matter, has anything been advertised more intelligently and systematically; and the people have testified to the value of this character of advertising with the most surprising results. On Saturday the store could hardly accommodate the vast crowds of people that poured into Cape Girardeau, while the country roads presented a veritable procession of vehicles—all coming to the Closing Out Sale—Scott and Perry counties are well represented. The crowd was truly cosmopolitan. Many people coming from the country and equally as many from our large and competitive towns, Jackson, Sikeston, Chaffee, and Illinois, people who have not been in Cape Girardeau for years, all were brought hither. Although one of the most spacious stores in Cape Girardeau, the building proved too small to accommodate even a small portion of the anxious and impatient bargain seekers. And in this manner the great sale continues and is still keeping up. It has been in progress now only four days but the people are flocking there with undiminished enthusiasm, laying in a supply of furniture, dry goods and other useful articles for a whole lifetime, it seems. They are enthused, nay excited, over the great slaughter of goods and the sale which has been advertised to be of nineteen days' duration, will at the rate the stock is going exhaust its supply long before that time. With the Nussbaum reputation this truly phenomenal sale was made possible and (when we say it we mean every business man in Cape Girardeau) it has helped the entire city wonderfully. Never was business so brisk, not in years (at this season) has Cape Girardeau seen such activity. In every branch of business people were over-run, while complaints from neighboring towns show that business is just as dull there as it was before the opening of the sale. And truly no terms can be used strong enough to express the cleverness and complete success with which the Closing Out Sale has been engineered. The credit must be given the untiring efforts and faithful services of the large force of salespeople who have been employed to accommodate the public and which consists of our best known and most respected ladies and gentlemen. The sale closes Saturday, August 5.

COUPLE, SEPARATED THREE YEARS, ELOPE

Musician Finds Girl of His Heart on Boat—Go to Cairo to Wed.

When Miss Ruth Ross of Thebes, Ill., and George Pistorius, of St. Louis, a violinist on the Str. Cape Girardeau, yesterday eloped to Cairo to be married, a romance that started three years ago in Minneapolis, Minn., and was heightened by their separation, was happily culminated.

The couple's recognition occurred on the boat several days ago when Miss Ross was dancing to music that her former sweetheart was coaxing from his violin in the orchestra of the boat.

Since his separation from the girl that he had planned to marry in the North, young Pistorius had carried her photograph with him and the image of her face was daily freshened in his mind. He felt sure of his recognition of his former sweetheart.

On that day as the dancing stopped, he gained the services of a companion player to approach the girl to ask her if her name was "Ross."

The young woman replied in the affirmative to the query, whereupon Pistorius introduced himself. When he began talking to the girl, he became surer than ever of the truth of his conviction.

He endeavored to get the girl to recollect him, but she declared she never had known him before. He plied her with questions relating to circumstances that happened in Minneapolis. To many of these she gave the correct replies and as his last card to induce the girl to "remember" him, he produced her photograph.

Miss Ross glanced at the photo then opened her vanity case and glanced at her own features. They were virtually identical. Yet she maintained her position that it must be some other girl that Pistorius had promised to marry.

The couple arranged to meet each other on Pistorius' next trip down the river and yesterday afternoon they met in the Cape. She came to the Cape to await him on his boat. She went with him to Thebes and in the afternoon they determined that whether or not she was the original girl, they would carry out the promise and be married at nightfall on their return to the Cape.

When they arrived at Thebes, however, young Pistorius looked at his prospective bride, remembered that he had lost her once before and waned three years before he found her again. "Are you game?" he asked. "We'll catch a train here to Cairo and have it over."

"Yes!" was the girl's answer.

"Good-bye, Captain Leyhe," Pistorius shouted to his chief. "I'll see you in St. Louis."

They made their way to Cairo where word was received they were married.

Hen Goes to Her Roost When She Wants to Lay Egg

Has Been "Setting" for Two Weeks on Her Roost and Herman Bunch Forecasts Hen Heart Failure When Hatching Time Comes.

Herman Bunch, well known East Side farmer who lives three miles from the river on the Illinois side, yesterday afternoon while in the Cape was accorded the prize for telling the most unique story of a hen heard in the city for many moons.

Bunch has a hen that lays from her roost. The laying has been a sort of aimless job, because each egg that the hen has produced has been smashed on the ground beneath the roost where it dropped instead of having been cradled in a nest as fresh eggs should be.

The discovery of the unique manner in which the hen preferred to do her laying was made when one of Bunch's sons determined to watch the fowl after having daily found a scramble of chickens over a broken egg in the hen coop.

He saw the hen, a large matron-like bird sedately clamber to the roost and after a patient wait, he witnessed the destruction of the egg as it fell to the floor.

The hen, satisfied with her work, quit the roost cackling and spreading the news in true hen fashion.

Young Bunch told his father of the affair, and while they were planning a way in which to educate the hen to the use of a nest like other hens use, the bird quit laying and determined she wanted to set.

She went to her regular berth on the roost and Mr. Bunch yesterday declared that for two weeks his hen has been doing a job of setting on her roost.

He is at a loss to know how he is going to keep her from dying of a broken heart when she finds her three weeks work has been wasted.

500 YOUNG TURKS

TO GET GERMAN TRAINING

Berlin, July 19—The German-Turkish Committee organized some time ago announces that five hundred sons of Turkish officers killed in the present war will be brought to Germany to be educated. Twenty-three gymnasiums and sixteen universities and technical high schools have agreed to admit the young Turks without payment of tuition fees and their board and incidental expenses during their preparatory and college terms will be paid by the committee. For this purpose $400,000 dollars have already been raised and the German and Turkish governments each will contribute $250,000 to the fund.

REV. MURTAUGH IN NORTHERN HOSPITAL

Well-Known Cape Girardeau Priest Taken to Milwaukee For Treatment.

Father James A. Murtaugh, of St. Vincent's College, who has been ill for several months, was taken to Milwaukee Wednesday, where he entered St. Mary's Hospital, and where he will remain during the warm summer months.

Father Murtaugh was accompanied to Milwaukee by Father Walsh of St. Vincent's College. He had several serious attacks from his heart while enroute, but was feeling much improved when Father Walsh left him to return to the Cape.

Father Murtaugh has been compelled to give up active work for the past six months, owing to his decline in health. He is suffering from hardening of the arteries, and a slight organic heart ailment.

He is known as one of the best pulpit orators in Southeast Missouri, and has been active in the commercial as well as the religious growth of this part of the state. As a public speaker he has been much in demand.

Although appearing to be much older, he is only 57 years of age, but his life has been devoted to hard work. He has been treated for his ailment for months, but his physician, believing that this climate was not beneficial to the priest, urged him to enter the hospital in Milwaukee. He has been in the St. Francis Hospital in this city at intervals since early spring, but his condition has not improved.

The hospital in which he is a patient is located on the lake, and this admirable condition, coupled with other advantages, it is believed, will result in the early restoration of his health.

MRS. J. H. DORIS WILL RETURN HOME TODAY

Judge Doris Was Buried at Paducah, Ky., After Death Saturday

Mrs. James H. Doris is expected to arrive home in the Cape today following the funeral of her husband, Judge J. H. Doris, who died last Saturday morning in Paducah, Ky., and was buried there Sunday. Judge Doris, who was prominent in Cape County politics for the last eight years, died after an illness of several months with Bright's disease.

He served one term as prosecuting attorney, and last winter his name was mentioned prominently for the Republican nomination for Judge of the Common Pleas Court.

He went to Dawson Springs, Ky., several weeks ago from his home in the Cape to take the baths there for his health. He was dissatisfied with the treatment and started home. He stopped in Paducah to visit at the home of one of his sons, George Doris.

He became seriously ill there and last week Mrs. Doris was summoned to her husband's bedside. He died Saturday at his son's home.

Judge Doris is survived by his wife and five sons who are: Seth and Houston, of Springfield, Mo.; M. L. Doris, of Eminence, Mo.; George Doris, of Paducah, and Roscoe, who is in the U. S. army, stationed at Honolulu.

Judge Doris was a native Kentuckian, and he came to Missouri when a young man. He first settled at Eminence and later at Winona, Shannon County, where he was head of the Board of Education and later mayor of the town. He came to the Cape in 1908 from Winona and by 1910 had grown sufficiently strong politically to be elected prosecuting attorney.

JACKSON ALLIANCE TO PICNIC JULY 30

Annual German-American Meeting Will Be Held at Cane Creek School.

The date for the annual picnic of the German-American Alliance of Jackson was set last night at a meeting of the association in Jackson and the affair will be held on Sunday, July 30.

The picnic will be staged at the grounds of the Cane Creek School-house and the leaders of the alliance are making arrangements for various kinds of entertainment. A large crowd is expected to gather at the picnic from farms surrounding as well as Jackson.

Officers of the Jackson alliance are sending out special invitations to all the county candidates urging them to be present, and because of the fact that it will be the last large gathering of voters before the primary election on the following Tuesday, it is anticipated that virtually all county candidates will be present at the celebration.

Special committees will look after the entertainment of the guests as well as provide for the barbecued lunch that will be a feature of the picnic.

By the time that the picnic is held, many of the farmers will be through with a large portion of their crops and the picnic also will be in the nature of a harvest home celebration.

He was defeated for the nomination in 1912 by J. Henry Caruthers and since that time he has practiced. For several months his health had been failing and he has been unable to work with the same success he formerly obtained.
